Committee description text	Together with the LOC, the POC is responsible for developing the conference theme suggested by the LOC in their host bid (Transformative and Inclusive Science for a Sustainable Future), operationalise it (sessions, speakers, mingling exercise, etc.) and also help organise the general science session and how Conference and AGM fit together. Guiding posts for the planning are the past events and the feedback by the members. Similarly, the POC can develop ideas around possible pre-conference workshops and capacity-building activities for members. Cooperation between LOC and POC, and with EC and Office, is thus essential, in particular the POC supports the LOC to coordinate the programme in collaboration with potential donors. This committee works closely with the LOC, the Executive Committee and the GYA Office. The GYA Office provides intensive support with coordination efforts, the POC needs to conceptualize, make decisions and ideally take on sub-tasks. Details on the committee's processes and timeframes can be found in the POC terms of reference. There exists an extensive, continually updated AGM handbook for guidance on organising an AGM, which is updated every year following an AGM.
Who can join this committee (who is eligible)	GYA members and alumni. The approx. time commitment involved: monthly POC online meeting, POC-LOC leads check in with one another monthly. This can be a time-intensive committee, but a great opportunity to shape the AGM!

When can people join/when will the call for this committee be published	Annually, shortly after a bid for the next AGM has been selected.

Committee description text	The LOC is responsible for the major part of the fundraising (in cooperation with the GYA Fundraising Committee), all local organisational questions, the local/regional protocol and guests for the annual GYA flagship event, the AGM and Conference. The LOC is key for a successful organisation of this event and is supported by the Programme Organising Committee (POC), the EC and the GYA Office. The EC bears special responsibility for the AGM part and the international protocol and international guests. The Office sets up a registration procedure, supports AGM communications and coordination between all committees, applies for some member travel funding, and coordinates travel and conference co-funding. This committee is formed by the host of the upcoming AGM, after the bid is awarded. The list of LOC members is shared with the GYA EC for approval.
Who can join this committee (who is eligible)	members and alumni; depending on the local situation, non-GYA members can be part of this committee, e.g. members/alumni of the country's NYA
When can people join/when will the call for this committee be published	This committee is constituted annually, by the host of the next AGM & Conference; as soon as a bid has been approved by the EC.

Committee description text	The GYA core funding, provided by the German Ministry for Education and Research (BMBF) and the State of Saxony-Anhalt, is limited in both amount (about 700k€/year) and what the GYA can use it for. The role of the Fundraising Committee is to find ways to expand the current GYA funding, e.g. by establishing and maintaining contacts. Committee members also encourage GYA members to assist with these fundraising endeavours by soliciting ideas for potential funders, and working with members to approach the right funding bodies to support GYA activities. Ideally, this committee would find ways to make the AGM funding more sustainable as well.
Who can join this committee (who is eligible)	members and alumni; Experience with fundraising helps when being interested in this committee, but is not mandatory.

Committee description text	The GYA Membership Selection Committee takes care of the selection process of the GYA, and plays a vital role in maintaining the excellence and diversity of new members. The members of this committee review all incoming applications for new membership each year (approximately 40 new members selected each year). The process is run by the chair of the committee. There are several rounds of reviews through which applications go (over 460 applications received in 2019 and 2020). The goal is to admit the best applicants, matching the GYA criteria and who will be active during their five years of GYA membership. There is extensive documentation available from the GYA Office on the process of selecting new members, to guide committee members (see New Membership Selection): https://intranet.globalyoungacademy.net/procedures/
Who can join this committee (who is eligible)	members and alumni; requirement for committee membership: at least one previous AGM (or e-AGM) participation.
When can people join/when will the call for this committee be published	Annually, after each AGM, usually with a deadline of 1 July

Committee description text	The ARC manages the allocation of internal funding for member activities by overseeing the application process for internal funding for: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Base funding for working groups and incubators (annually)</li> <li>- Top-up funding for working groups (twice each year)</li> <li>- North-South Interdisciplinary Grant (annually)</li> </ul> The Committee is supported by the GYA Office in the processing of the applications and the announcement of decisions. The results of any review process are put forward to the entire EC (including GYA Co-Chairs and Working Group Portfolio co-leads) for formal approval. In case of problematic cases/contested issues, the EC makes the final decision. The GYA Office then communicates decisions to the groups.
Who can join this committee (who is eligible)	members & alumni (In exceptional cases, one of the co-leads can be a GYA alumnus/a.); In case a reviewer is part of the group whose proposal is being reviewed, they will refrain from reviewing this particular proposal.
When can people join/when will the call for this committee be published	Call annually after AGM + members can join any time

Committee description text	The ORC manages the review of all GYA outputs that are for release into the public domain in the name of the GYA or are recognised as having had major GYA input and/or funding (statements, reports, surveys, etc.). Similar to an editorial board, members of the committee will not necessarily carry out the review themselves, but it is up to them to find suitable reviewers among the GYA members and alumni (sometimes also external experts, or GYA Advisory Board members), collect their feedback and communicate this feedback back to the group whose output is being reviewed. For works submitted to an outside peer-reviewed publication, such as a book, journal article, or scientific report, this committee will simply verify the peer review reports, check the way the GYA is represented, and confirm acceptance. It will not conduct an additional review. Reviews happen on a rolling basis, whenever a group submits an output for review. The results of any review process are put forward to the entire EC (including GYA Co-Chairs and Working Group Portfolio co-leads) for formal approval. In case of problematic cases/contested issues, the EC makes the final decision. Reviews needed in a very short period of time in the interest of the GYA's standing vis-à-vis its partners (less than 10 days), or any ad-hoc statements of a political/current affairs nature issued on behalf of the GYA, will go directly to the EC. Details about the committee's processes and timeframes can be found in the ORC terms of reference. [LINK to follow]
Who can join this committee (who is eligible)	members &amp; alumni (In exceptional cases, one of the co-leads can be a GYA alumnus/a.) In addition to the core group of committee members, the entire GYA membership and alumni constitute the potential pool of reviewers for specific topics/disciplines, based on their expertise and previous GYA engagement (e.g. in working groups). The Committee co-leads/lead will approach suitable candidates for each upcoming review individually and ask for their time and contribution. Members of a group submitting an output for review will not be asked to act as reviewers even if they had no part in developing the output in question, to avoid conflicts of interest.

When can people join/when will the call for this committee be published	Call annually after AGM + members can join any time

GYA Financial Auditor – Information

Committee website	https://globalyoungacademy.net/activities/financial-auditor/

EC ex-officio contact name	Priscilla Kolibea Mante
Office contact name	Beate Wagner
Committee mailing list (if one exists)
Sharepoint Hub
Committee description text	The position of GYA Financial Auditor is a new development, it grew out of the now defunct GYA Finance Review Committee. The GYA regularly receives funds from its public core-funders in Germany and different other national or international project funders. Each of the funders attach specific spending rules to their grants and the GYA Office makes sure that the money is spent accordingly and the reporting to the funders is done. In addition to this reporting, a proper GYA-internal financial oversight also needs to be conducted. The GYA Auditor will not be involved in GYA financial decision-making, but will then check on the GYA's money allocation and management, and will provide relevant overview and information to the membership. As the GYA is not a legal entity, only the Managing Director (MD) is presently in the position to sign contracts according to the rules of the GYA's host academy. This state of affairs is not covered by the GYA constitution. Therefore, by overseeing more closely the financial management done by the MD, the Auditor will also help to build trust among the membership that funds are managed in the best interest of the entire GYA and bridge the gap between constitution and present practice. Tasks for this role: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Monitor the budget decisions and the decision procedures of the EC and MD</li> <li>• Provide financial transparency, i.e. an overview to the membership over the years, for which activities the relatively regulation-free money from the core funding is allocated <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• recommend measures to improve the decision-making and the transparency thereof</li> <li>• recommend financial co-decision-making rules for large projects, and on how working groups and the EC/MD can make effective co-decisions, in particular on additional external funding</li> <li>• produce an annual report to the membership on the above (in time for each AGM)</li> </ul> </li> </ul>
Who can join this committee (who is eligible)	members and alumni; prior experience in budget management or review (e.g. at an university institute or in a larger international project, or a company) would be preferable; should have time to explore the existing GYA structures and review the documents annually.

	Ideally, should want to hold this position for two years minimum, preferably three years, and introduce a new treasurer to the job in the last year of office. Members of the EC and the GYA Fundraising Committee are not eligible. Upon installation of this new position, the EC 2019/20 suggested an initial trial period for three years. The position has been filled for the first time in 2023. Hence, the trial period will end at the AGM 2026. In case of positive experience, the Financial Auditor should then be permanently included in the GYA Constitution.
When can people join/when will the call for this committee be published	The position will be filled through election (or re-confirmation of a continuing auditor) by the membership at the AGM each year. An auditor-elect will also be elected at the AGMs (as relevant).
